

Why is This Important?

We are excited about our theme for this year: Why is This Important?

This theme builds on our theme from last year – How do we become better thinkers?

Last year, we encouraged families to move up Bloom’s Taxonomy (see below) in order to achieve higher level thinking. We believe this year’s theme directly addresses the evaluate level of the taxonomy.

As your family works together on activities and projects, we ask that you always strive to answer the question “Why is this important”. Why is it important that we look at different perspectives or create different forms of output? Why should we apply our brain power to numeracy as well as literacy-based activities? Our “sub-theme” is diversity, so we look forward to exploring different perspectives.
